

BREAKING NEWS! Predictive Index® Management Program Rewards CHRP Recertification Credits

Predictive Success is pleased to announce that the Predictive Index Management Program (2-day analyst course) has been approved in its entirety for recertification credits towards CHRP recertification with the Human Resources Professionals Association (HRPA).

The Human Resources Professionals Association (HRPA) is Canada's HR thought leader with over 18,000 members in 28 chapters in Ontario and other locations across Canada and around the world. HRPA is internationally recognized for its knowledge, innovation and leadership. The Certified Human Resources Professional (CHRP) designation is the national designation for human resources in Canada. There are currently 6,600 CHRP holders that are members of HRPA and this number grows each year. In order to re-certify, individuals are required to obtain 100 recertification credits within a three-year cycle.

Participants who complete the 2-day training workshop to become a certified PI Analyst will receive 20 recertification credits upon successful completion of the course. In addition to receiving a certificate recognizing successful completion of training as a PI Analyst, participants will also receive a certificate indicating that they have successfully received the credits. On this certificate will be ID #, issued by HRPA, which will be used to receive the credits with HRPA.

We are very proud of this recognition, and follow the lead of PI Worldwide, who has successfully gained approval for the program with IACET, and well as HRCI, the US equivalent of HRPA. This accomplishment is a testament to the quality and professionalism of our program and the strength of the Predictive Index tool within the marketplace.

To support this achievement we will continue to have presence at the annual HRPA conference (the world's 2nd largest HR conference).

We take great pride in being leaders in the field of workplace assessment, and are pleased to support our clients and trained analyst network as they recognize the importance of continuing education and self development.

For any questions or additional information, please do not hesitate to contact myself, Kristy Kahler, at kkahler@predictivesuccess.com or 905-430-9788 ext. 200.

Kristy Kahler, Senior Marketing Associate, Predictive Success