

MENTORING WITH THE PREDICTIVE INDEX

Predictive Success Academy Core Series

1/2 DAY VIRTUAL

Pricing available on request

Mentorship is a crucial step in building and advancing one's career, but not all mentor/mentee relationships are created equally. An effective mentor views the relationship with the mentee as symbiotic. Pairing mentors and mentees together should not be done at random, and leveraging insights from The Predictive Index makes it possible to facilitate mutually beneficial, positive and meaningful mentorship experiences.

This half-day session offers participants a better understanding of how to leverage Predictive Index Behavioural Data to build a mentor/mentee relationship. The session explores how to become more self-aware and how to recognize the ways in which your behavioural drives work with others. Sessions are led by consultants who are experts in the discipline, in an accessible, easy-to-digest format. Participants will leave the session with the skills to identify what makes a mentorship experience so powerful and how The Predictive Index can enhance a mentor/mentee relationship.

“I am really thrilled that we were paired with someone with a very different Predictive Index Reference Profile™ because we can share diverse perspectives. I Love the Predictive Index® because I think I know myself but I also recognize that sometimes your greatest strength is knowing your weaknesses and growth opportunities.”
